

Generation Alcohol? Have Your Say

Young People and Alcohol Consultation Seminars

The Youth Policy project aims to reduce alcohol-related harms among young people in England and Wales. Make a contribution to the development of youth specific resources, share innovative “local” practice, contribute to national policy recommendations and take the opportunity to network with other professionals.

Seminars will consist of a presentation and workshops addressing:

- Alcohol specific resources and tools for young people
- Local approaches: what works “locally” and why

These events are aimed at alcohol and substance misuse practitioners, youth service workers, youth justice workers and any professional supporting young people up to 18 years-old in their relationship with alcohol.

Seminars are free. A small travel expense contribution may be available on request.

Places are limited so book early to avoid disappointment
